

What's the Problem?

Samples of “iconic” items on display at the Smithsonian Museums

Source: Smithsonian.com (an online magazine focusing on the Smithsonian Museums)

Dorothy's slippers from the Wizard of Oz

Top hat worn by Abraham Lincoln on the night of his assassination

Favorite pipe of renowned Physicist Albert Einstein

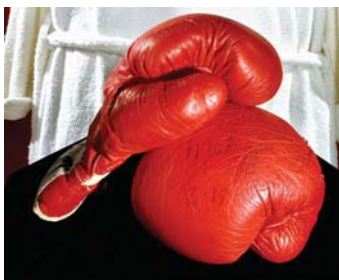

Thomas Edison's first incandescent light bulb

Writing box where Thomas Jefferson drafted the Declaration of Independence

Microphone used by President Franklin D. Roosevelt to address the nation over the radio

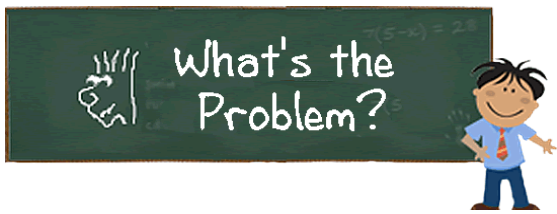

Gloves worn by boxer Muhammad Ali during a victorious title fight

Diner counter in North Carolina where a major protest over segregation began in the 1960s

One of the first pairs of Levi Jeans from the 1870s

A Kermit the Frog puppet used by creator Jim Henson

Trumpet used by Jazz sensation Dizzy Gillespie

The first camera model produced by Kodak

One of the first high-powered microscopes from the 1830s

Part of the first telegraph line built in the 1840s

Polio vaccine created by Jonas Salk

Baseball signed by the legendary Babe Ruth following one of his games

One of the first "Teddy Bears", a toy named in honor of Theodore Roosevelt

The first commercially successful typewriter