

Students are just like candy... the only problem is that there are lots of different types of candy out there!

Find out which type of students are in your classroom:

Student Candy Type		The Reason Why...
	Hershey's Bar	These students are simple and sweet. Don't you wish all students were Hershey Bars?
	Snickers	These are awesome students, even if they are a little nutty on the inside. After all, that's what makes them great!
	Sour Worms	These students are an acquired taste, and not everyone comes around to liking them. You have to be willing to fight past that first impression.
	Almond Joy	These students are a strange combination, and you're certain at first that they are not for you. In the end, though, they're not so bad!
	Werther's Originals	These are sophisticated students who can be a bit intimidating. Once you get past that hard exterior, they're as sweet as can be.
