

The training will be ongoing. Modules created for the different components of the text will be available on the website beginning in late Summer 2022 and extending into the fall. These modules will demonstrate how to use the following effectively in the classroom:

- Connecting to the SC Social Studies Standards
- What Research Supports This New Teaching Paradigm?
- Using this Unique Format
 - Dialogue to Teach Content
 - Listening to Learn
 - Turn and Talk
 - Authentic Activities to Promote Thinking and Problem Solving
- Technology for Today's Teacher: How Do the Online Components Streamline My Teaching?
 - Lessons Planned with Needed Components
 - Digital Literacy
- How Do I Help Students/Parents Use the Online Components?
 - 3D Printing
 - QR Codes
 - Digital Response
 - Online Assessment
 - Home School Connection
- How Do I Naturally Level the Lesson?
- How Do I Assess the Work?
 - Ongoing Assessment
 - End of Lesson Cluster- Earn Badges
 - Rubrics
 - Writing Content Portfolio
- Creativity and Problem Solving Through Project Based Learning

Professional Development

Professional Development is being prepared through a partnership with Carolina Reads and SC-ETV. Teachers will be able to take a course for renewal credit that focuses on the changing paradigm of how social studies can be taught through integration with English Language Arts. The text, South Carolina Right Under Our Feet, will be used as a model for teachers.

The course is being prepared Summer 2022. Teacher leaders will serve on a leadership team to advise for the direction of the course.

Support

Support will be provided through the website for teachers to share their ideas, ask questions, and provide support for each other. Teachers can post ideas and pictures from their classrooms as suggestions for others. Ongoing interests in teaching social studies will be added. This forum will be monitored by Dr. Mary Ann Solesbee.